ISLAND LAKE MAN SENTENCED TO SIX YEARS FOR DRUG-INDUCED HOMICIDE

RE: Daniel R. Carmody: Age 48 (d.o.b. 08-13-1976), of the 100 block of Southern Terrace, Island Lake, Illinois. Case No. 2021CF1584.

St. Charles, Ill. - Kane County State's Attorney Jamie L. Mosser announces that Daniel R. Carmody has agreed to a sentence of six years of imprisonment in the Illinois Department of Corrections in exchange for a guilty plea to the offense of drug-induced homicide, a class X felony. Judge D.J. Tegeler accepted the plea.

Assistant State's Attorney Kelly Orland stated in court that on or around May 10, 2021, Carmody unlawfully delivered heroin and cocaine to the victim, 31-year-old Daniel Liewald of St. Charles. Liewald ingested the substances. He was found to have died from fentanyl and cocaine intoxication.

In accordance with Illinois law, Carmody must serve at least 75 percent of the sentence. Carmody receives credit for nine days served in the Kane County jail. Carmody must pay $5,418 in restitution to the victim's family.

ASA Orland said: "Drug-induced homicide charges are essential in holding drug dealers accountable for the deadly consequences of their actions. This case demonstrates our commitment to prosecuting those who profit from selling dangerous substances. My thanks to ASA Hillary Sadler for her assistance on the case, and to the North Central Narcotics Task Force and the St. Charles Police Department for their thorough investigation."
